Bats Day in the Fun Park™, the premiere Dark Alternative Subculture event on the West Coast, starts its 12th year of its annual events on April 30th, 2010.

Anaheim, California, April 30th, May 1st & 2nd 2010

An estimated 5000+ people are scheduled to attend this year's 12th annual Bats Day in the Fun Park™ weekend. People in the Dark Alternative Subculture, ranging in ages from 6 to 60, from all over the world, will be attending Bats Day in the Fun Park™. The festivities will include the Bats Day™ Black Market, The Nightmare Before Bats Day Dinner, The Bats Day Ghoulish Gala and the Bats Day Dark Park. We wrap up our weekend with our Bats Day in the Fun Park™ trip to Disneyland, where we take group photos and meet throughout the park.

Bats Day in the Fun Park™ has grown into a gathering that people in the Dark Alternative Subcultures and their families, look forward to every year. It is a dramatic change from the humble beginnings of this event as it started as just a group of approximately 80 friends in 1999.

We welcome everyone to join in the fun. We have meet several people over the years not in our subculture that enjoy attending. All information for The "Year of a Million Screams", ticket purchasing for all events, meeting spot times and locations for the Bats Day in the Fun Park™ Disneyland trip can be found by visiting the Official Bats Day in the Fun Park™ website <http://www.batsday.net>. Over 2000+ photos from the previous Bats Day in the Fun Park™ trip can be found on the website. The Bats Day in the Fun Park™ events are not affiliated with the Walt Disney Company.

"It really must be the happiest place on Earth, when even the Goths can't stop smiling."

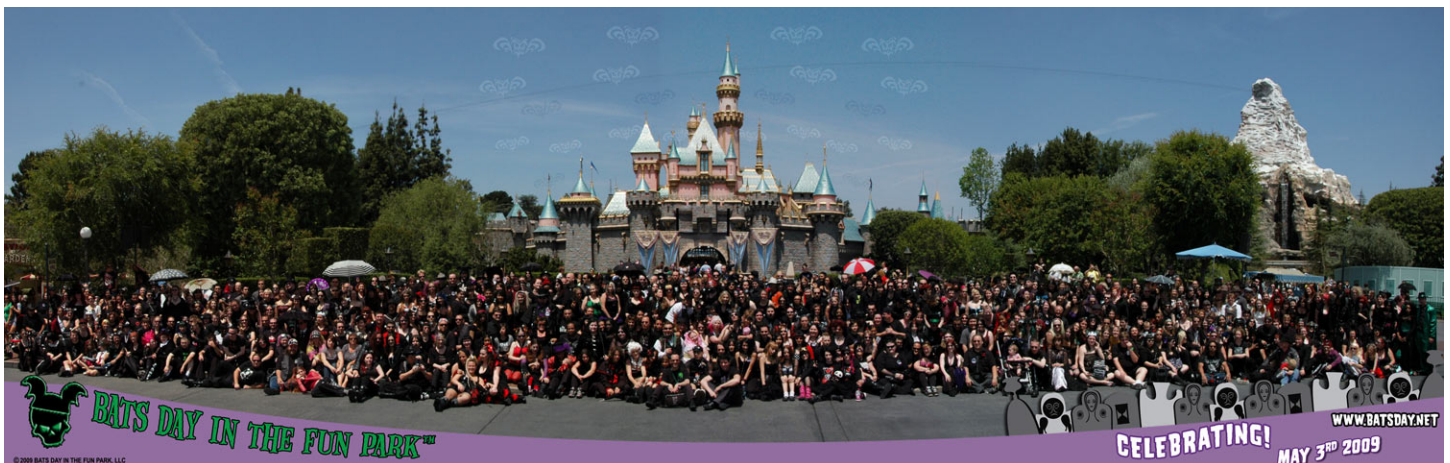

- Claire Luna, Los Angeles Times Staff Writer

"Don't let anyone tell you that the Age of Irony is over. It's alive and well in California, and here's the proof: Goth kids love Disneyland."

- Chuck Klosterman, Spin Magazine Story Writer

"Who could resist the fun – the gloomiest people in the universe in The Happiest Place on Earth?"

- Jonathan Gold, LA Weekly, Writer
